PREFACE

In the preface to the original bibliography, I wrote with some satisfaction, "Within the limits here set forth an effort has been made to make the compilation complete." Subsequent to publication I collected from time to time a few fugitive titles, but it was not until July of 1962 that I realized there were enough additional titles to justify publication of a supplement. While in Calgary during Stampede Week I sought refuge from the shouts of the cowhands and the bawling of the steers in the quiet coolness of the Library of the Glenbow Foundation. Here I saw many new pamphlets, strays missed in the earlier round-up.

In this Supplement, Glenbow is the library most frequently cited as location; that so many scarce titles are in a library which has existed so short a time bespeaks diligent searching and a bibliophile's acquisitiveness on the part of Mr. T. E. McCloy, the librarian. Another source was microfilmed correspondence and records of the Church Missionary Society which, while mostly manuscript material, contained a number of little-known pamphlets. On one microfilm reel I was delighted to find a sermon by the Bishop of Rupert's Land printed in Winnipeg in 1868, earlier than any Winnipeg imprint previously known. Later I had the satisfaction of holding a copy of the booklet, owned by an enthusiastic collector of Canadian Prairiana, Mr. Nathan Arklin of Winnipeg; a contractor friend had found the booklet on the floor of an old house being demolished for a building project. The Arklin collection, it will be noted in the Supplement, was a happy hunting-ground for the bibliographer.

Then I checked the Library of Parliament I located some interesting pamphlets, and I wondered how I had overlooked such an obvious source; then I recalled the Library of Parliament's fire which had made it impossible to examine the holdings of the library in 1953.

The appearance in recent years of printed catalogues of major libraries and special collections has immeasurably assisted bibliographers and research students. When each batch of volumes of the British Museum's Catalogue of Printed Books arrives in our library, I hasten to examine it for Western Canadian items. And titles turn up in unlikely places: why does the Union Theological Seminary in New York own a unique pamphlet published in 1906 which encouraged the building up of treasures on earth by investing in Western Canadian lands?

Last but not least of the sources were the Canadians book dealers, who over the years in their catalogues have made available and drawn attention to pamphlets which were not in my original bibliography.

The principles of selectivity, and the problems relating thereto, were set out in the preface of the original bibliography, and have been followed in the Supplement. The arrangement is similar to the original work. In numbering entries I have prefaced each number by the letter S to indicate the Supplement.

A few entries listed at the end of the Supplement are not in correct chronological sequence as these were added after the indexing had been completed. Users should note that Entries S471-S475 do not appear in any of the indexes.

Appended to the Supplement are corrigenda to the original bibliography. The corrections and additions relate to the original entries and to the biographical data in the author index. The biographical information most often added is a death date; in the eight years since the appearance of the bibliography, at least a score of the men and women who published a book or booklet have had "finis" written to their mortal chapter.

I gratefully acknowledge the assistance of librarians and others in suggesting titles for incorporation in the supplement, or in supplying other information. Those who suggested titles were Mr. T. R. McCloy and Mr. Hugh Dempsey of the Glenbow Foundation, Mr. H. V. Dempsey of Ottawa, Mr. J. E. A. Macleod, Q.C., of Calgary, Mrs. June Fritch, editor of the Alberta Poetry Year Book, the Rev. Peter T. Ream of Fort Saskatchewan, Mr. Foster M. Palmer, Assistant Reference Librarian of Harvard University Library, and Mr. Gay Lyle, Librarian of Emory University. While Mr. Bernard Amsmann did not suggest titles directly certainly I am indebted to his catalogues as a source of titles. Others whom I wish to thank for assistance given by letter, or during visits to their libraries, are the following: Miss Marjorie Morley, Provincial Librarian of Manitoba, the Rev. T. C. B. Boon, Honorary Archivist of the Provincial Synod of Rupert's Land, Miss Edythe E. McCausland, University of Toronto Library, Mrs. Ginsberg of the United Church of Canada Archives, Miss Martha Shepard, Dr. Ian Wees, and staff of the National Library of Canada, Miss Dorothy Duke of the Dominion Department of Agriculture Library, and Mr. D'Arcy Beckstead of the Library of Parliament. Nor must I forget the contribution made by the typists, my secretary, Mrs. Shirley Meyer, Miss Josie Fochiowski, and particularly to Mrs. Dorothy Sears, who typed from a difficult scissors-and-paste draft the final copy for the press. And finally I acknowledge the work of my wife whose careful proofreading has eliminated many an inconsistency or error in form and entry.

Born in London, Ont., 1857, sometime before 1886 was on a freighter which sank 400 miles off Melbourne, Australia, he was one of two men who survived out of a party of nine who were on a raft for 72 hours; in his youth was a boxer in the U.S.A. and attended the big fights as a sparring partner; a member of John L. Sullivan's troupe for several tours, frontispiece of book contains quotations about Burns by Mark Twain and Upton Sinclair, employed on construction of G.T.P. in 1910, spent his life as a homesteader and woodcutter for river steamers in the country around Lesser Slave Lake and along the Athabasca River, home town was Mirror Landing, blindness forced him to retire to Edmonton where he was a non-paying guest at the Selkirk Hotel, 1927; began writing to raise money, apparently published a booklet in 1928, giving first-hand accounts of John L. Sullivan's fights.
